

A RAID ON NIHILISTS.

Moscow Police Capture Fifty After Desperate Resistance.

Five of the Conspirators Commit Suicide to Escape Arrest.

Fifteen of the Government Force Are Wounded.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Dec. 16.—A Moscow dispatch received here says that the police of that place, assisted by a detachment of Cossacks, surrounded and surprised a large meeting of Nihilists, which was being held in an isolated house outside of Moscow.

The dispatch adds that the Nihilists made a desperate resistance; that fifteen of the police were wounded during the affray and that five of the Nihilists committed suicide, preferring death to being captured.

The Moscow dispatch also says that twenty-two of the Nihilists succeeded in escaping, and that, in all, fifty of the conspirators were captured.

HAS "SCOTT" BEEN FOUND?

Sensation Promised in the Assassination Murder Mystery.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Dec. 16.—The Westminster Gazette publishes a special despatch from Edinburgh saying that startling developments may shortly be expected in the Monson trial. The despatch adds that it is possible that "Scott," the outlawed sporting man, may yet stand in the dock by Monson's side.

EDINBURGH, Dec. 16.—The evidence for the Crown in the charge of murder brought against Alfred J. Monson, as a result of the death of Lieut. Hambrough by shooting, at Ardnamoan, in August last, is about finished.

The general opinion is that the Crown has a very weak case.

It has undoubtedly been shown that the Monsons were in need of money, and that they resorted to various remarkable schemes to obtain "out," as they called it, from insurance companies and money-lenders. But it has also developed that Lieut. Hambrough, as well as his father, were very short of cash.

The cross-examination has shown, in many cases, distinctly, that it was in Monson's interest that the Lieutenant should at least attain his majority.

MUCH SUFFERING IN RIO.

Poor Driven from Their Homes and Prisons Crowded with Suspects.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Dec. 16.—A letter from Rio de Janeiro, dated Nov. 20, says many poor people are being driven from their homes, owing to the military operations, and their sufferings and privations are so great that they are obliged to seek public relief.

The Government is said to be making arbitrary arrests daily, and the prisons are crowded with suspects. The extreme partisans have assumed a threatening attitude towards the friends of the insurgents, and it is said that Rio de Janeiro may possibly see mob violence and shameful attacks upon foreigners.

Anarchist Codina Betrayed by a Woman.

(By Associated Press.)
BARCELONA, Dec. 16.—Joseph Codina, said to be the author of the Liceo Theatre dynamite outrage, and who was arrested in Perpignan, is a locksmith by trade and twenty-six years old. He is known to have associated with the leading Anarchists of Barcelona and to have been in correspondence with foreign Anarchists. A woman with whom he had lived denounced him, when arrested, as the author of the Liceo Theatre atrocity, and declared that he left in her care an Orsini bomb.

John Hare, the Favorite London Actor, Is Ill.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Dec. 16.—John Hare, the well-known comedian and theatrical manager, is dangerously ill.

Proposed Reduction of Italy's Military Budget.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Dec. 16.—A Rome despatch to The Standard states that Gen. Mocceni, Minister of War, will accept a programme involving a reduction of 12,000,000 lire in the military budget, half of which will be devoted to the general budget and the other half to army reforms.

PINKERTON'S PERIL.

Famous Chicago Detective Has a Close Call in 'Trisco.

Confronted by a Bandit Who Had Sworn to Kill Him.

The Fellow Secured and Relieved of a 44-Calibre Pistol.

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16.—Billy Pinkerton, the famous Chicago detective, had a narrow escape from assassination last night at the hands of a man who has sworn to take his life.

Pinkerton arrived here a few days ago on a pleasure trip, and his arrival was chronicled in the newspapers. Last night about 11 o'clock he was sitting in the billiard-room of the Palace Hotel, talking to Detectives Bohan and Seymour, of the local police force, when a messenger entered and handed him a note.

"The purpose of the communication was that the writer wished Pinkerton to meet him in front of the Crocker Building, opposite the hotel, as he had something of great importance to tell him. Suspecting a trap, Pinkerton arranged with Bohan and Seymour to follow him, and to his assistance at a given signal.

Then Pinkerton walked across the street, and as he reached the Crocker Building a man stepped out from a shadow and asked: "You are Bill Pinkerton, ain't you?"

As the man spoke the light shone on his face, and Pinkerton recognized him as Jack Hennessy, a notorious train robber, whom he had captured years ago and who had sworn to kill him.

While talking to Hennessy, Pinkerton did not lose sight of the fact that he was being followed by a man who had sworn to take his life. Hennessy is a desperate fellow, as there is in the country. He is a train-robber, and has operated all over the Western and Southern States.

"Grab him!" shouted Pinkerton, and threw his arms about the man. A desperate struggle ensued. Hennessy was finally overpowered, handcuffed and taken to the city prison.

While talking to Hennessy, Pinkerton kept his right hand in his overcoat pocket, and in that pocket he found a loaded 44-calibre pistol. Hennessy, after the affair, Pinkerton said: "I am convinced Hennessy is a desperate fellow, as there is in the country. He is a train-robber, and has operated all over the Western and Southern States.

"His last job was in Mississippi some years ago, and he was captured by me. Hennessy is a desperate fellow, as there is in the country. He is a train-robber, and has operated all over the Western and Southern States.

"I escaped from the penitentiary and there is a standing reward of $1,500 for his capture."

Pinkerton says he will not claim the reward, but he does claim that Hennessy and Hennessy who came to his assistance, Hennessy has many aliases, and the police refuse to give him his name. He will be held here until communication can be had with the authorities in Mississippi.

HIS MODEST REQUEST.

Somdsen Wants His Wife Punished and Returned.

The authorities at Ellis Island are continually receiving requests of every conceivable nature from the European friends of immigrants who have been landed here.

Assistant Commissioner Mcweeney yesterday received a letter, dated Sweden, from J. A. Somdsen, requesting the authorities to look up his wife, Miss Olga Somdsen, who had been arrested by the United States authorities, and to return her to him. He stated that he followed them to their hotel, but on account of the laxity of the laws was unable to punish them.

They left, continues the letter, on Aug. 4, last, on a White Star line steamship. Subsequently to the wife wrote a piteous appeal for money with which to return. He sent it a month ago in a letter addressed to Mrs. Strand, 306 Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn.

He says he would like to have the couple both caught and punished, after which he modestly requests that his erring wife be sent back to him and he will then forgive her.

Shot While Trying to Escape.

(By Associated Press.)
CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Dec. 16.—Charles Outskirk, a Chicago Western Union operator, visiting here, was arrested last night for drunkenness, and on attempting to escape was shot and dangerously wounded.

FATE OF DR. MEYER.

It May Be Decided by the Jury on Monday.

The Trial of the Alleged Poisoner Full of Surprises.

Good Reasons for Not Taking the Stand Himself.

The trial of Dr. Henry C. F. Meyer, who has absorbed the attention of the public for two weeks. It has been full of surprises. For five months the newspapers have narrated fresh discoveries in the remarkable career of this remarkable man—stories of the poisoning of people in remote parts of the country, from New York to Denver.

These stories have come from people who had known of this alleged poisoner's appearance in different places—New York, Toledo, Detroit, Chicago, South Bend, Denver and other places. They were like tales from the "Arabian Nights." The court-room of the Court of Oyer and Terminer, where Justice Barrett has added another spic to the wreath of laurels as a magistrate in his judicial conduct of the trial of Dr. Meyer, has been crowded with people eager to hear these stories from the witness stand.

Wonder was expressed last evening, when both sides rested and it was announced that the case would be closed. Dr. Meyer would be given to the jury on Monday, that none of those gruesome tales came out in court.

The rules of evidence forbid the introduction of these stories. Only in the event of Charles W. Brooke, the famous lawyer who guided the defense, placing Dr. Meyer on the witness stand could these things be referred to even.

Had Dr. Meyer taken the stand in his own behalf, Mr. McIntyre says, these stories would have been aired in cross-examination. Dr. Meyer would be asked if, after he insured the life of his servant, Mary Neils, for $5,000, in Toledo, he did not know that she was a poisoner. Then, whatever his answer, the woman now the wife of the confessed accomplice, Carl Muller, would have returned to the stand to tell her experience, and Muller would have been called upon to tell how his heart was touched and he saved the alleged intended victim by eloping with her and marrying her.

The other alleged poisonings by Dr. Meyer would have been gone into, and the trial would probably have extended beyond Christmas.

But Mr. Brooke, mild, advised Dr. Meyer not to go on the stand to confront Muller. For he knew that once he stood Dr. Meyer would be subjected to the insinuation of Mr. McIntyre to tell why he insured his life. He would have to tell why he insured his life in Chicago for six weeks and a day, and why he insured his life in Toledo for three months.

After a long pause, Dr. Meyer, after giving a calm against the Mutual and Anna Life Insurance companies for $2,500, Dr. Meyer, who had been abandoned, the claim and fact, actually leaving behind a certified check for $1,000 in the hands of the wife of the King of Kings.

So the defense "rested" after calling only one witness—Dr. Henry C. F. Meyer, a bacteriologist and pathologist is admitted. Dr. Meyer, a chemist, a chemist, Prof. Weithaus, the recognized authority in chemistry, and Snyder, the recognized authority in pathology, were called for the prosecution. Collectively they showed three months of evidence for the purpose of identification of the "poison" that Dr. Meyer had used in administering arsenic to Brandt.

There was no attempt to dispute Muller's testimony or to discredit the forty witnesses who had forged the chain of testimony that connects Dr. Meyer.

It was a surprise to everybody that the defense should have rested on the proposition that because there were no innocent spectators to corroborate Muller's story that Dr. Meyer administered the poison, there was no proof of Dr. Meyer's guilt.

The clever opening address of the young millionaire lawyer, Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, was a surprise. The failure of either side to call Mrs. Meyer as a witness was a surprise.

The case will be delivered to the jury on Monday. The eloquent Charles W. Brooke will plead for Dr. Meyer, who will reply. Justice Barrett will deliver his charge on the law of the case, and then the twelve men in the jury-box will decide the fate of Dr. Meyer.

It may be murder in the first degree. If it is murder in the first degree, Dr. Meyer did not intend to kill Brandt, but instead to substitute a corpse for him, then, as there is undisputed proof of a scheme to cheat the insurance companies, a misdemeanor under the law, it may be a verdict of manslaughter, first degree, with twenty years as the punishment. If the jurors ask for more corroboration of the poisoning of Brandt, it may be acquittal. If one of them discovers a reasonable doubt in his mind of the completeness of the proof, there may be a disagreement and a new trial will follow.

Dr. Meyer declined to see a reporter for "The Evening World," who called at the "Tomb" this morning. "The Evening World" gained from the enigma the only interview ever accorded by him to any one. Dr. Meyer got scolded for his inquisitiveness by his lawyers, and has been silent ever since. Mrs. Meyer also refuses to see reporters.

DR. BEACH AT BELLEVUE.

The Aged Physician Will Be Examined as to His Sanity.

Dr. Walter W. Beach, seventy-one years old, who was taken to Chambers Street Hospital last night from the Old Slip police station, was transferred to Bellevue Hospital this morning to be examined as to his sanity.

Dr. Beach told the hospital authorities that he lived at 146 MacDougal street, but nothing was known of him at that address.

At 6 o'clock last night the doctor went into the office of J. Oppenheimer at Pearl street and Maiden lane and sat down. He could give no information about himself, and nothing could be learned from him as to what he wanted. A policeman removed him.

GRIPMAN HOPPE RELEASED.

His Cable-Car Ran Into a Woman on Broadway.

Paul Hoppe, thirty years old, a gripman on Broadway cable-car No. 66, was arraigned before Justice Hogan, in Jefferson Market Police Court, today for running into Annie Casey, at the curve at Fourteenth street and Broadway, yesterday afternoon, and was released.

The woman was only slightly injured. She gave her name as Annie Casey, sixty-seven years, of 53 East Fifth street, but Policeman Henry E. Proffert of the Broadway squad, said he was unable to find the woman today. Proffert was particularly solicitous for the gripman and begged that the case should not be published.

A CALL FOR DEPOSITS.

Following a Plan for W. N. Y. and Penn. RR. Reorganization.

The Seligman committee, for the second mortgage bondholders of the Western New York and Pennsylvania Railroad, announces that in accordance with the plan of the Reorganization Committee, all unpaid coupons, debentures and scrip must be deposited with the Central Trust Company by March 1, 1934.

Bondholders must deposit stock on or before same date with the Fidelity Insurance, Trust and Safe Deposit Company, of Philadelphia.

DID YOU EVER SEARCH A WOMAN?

If Not, You Don't Know Where They Hide Smuggled Goods.

It requires the shrewdness of a Custom-House inspector to cope with the New York woman who has made up her mind to smuggle. Only a person who has had the experience of years could divine the hiding places that contain lace, jewelry and other valuables.

If you want to read about the tricks that women play upon the inspectors and inspectors, you must buy the Sunday World. An article has been written on the subject by an inspector who has caught a great many smugglers. It tells why she suspected certain women and how she verified her suspicions.

Immigrants Anxious to Return.

It is reported by Ellis Island authorities that a remarkably large number of immigrants are daily making urgent, and in many cases piteous, appeals to be returned whence they came. Their dreams of prosperity not being realized, they became divided in the country and the majority, having no friends to whom they can apply for relief, turn to the immigration bureau. It is necessary to reduce the number of nearly all.
